

Missile Believed First Step in Space Travel

MISSILE TEST ENTER, cape canaveral, Fla. A monster missile streaked two miles straight up yesterday, then exploded. Thousands of spectators were confident they had seen the Atlas take its first step toward intercontinental — and perhaps interplanetary — flight.

The Air Force and the defense Department wouldn't say it was the Atlas. They wouldn't call it anything but "a missile," or say directly how it measured up to expectations.

However, the cigar-shaped sky-rocket was identified as the Atlas by informants whose past statements have proved 100 per cent accurate.

The Atlas was brought here a few days ago by special truck convey from San Diego, Calif., site of its manufacture. On hand for the firing were representatives of Convair Corp. and General Electric, which built the intercontinental ballistic missile. Observers who have seen previous versions of rocket blasts said this was not like any they'd seen.

The missile rose and burst in a fireball at 2:30 p.m. Ninety minutes later an Air Force spokesman said: "A missile was fired at the Air Force missile test center's Cape Canaveral launching site today. Shortly after the launching the missile exploded. There were no casualties."

Previous firings had been announced only days afterward.

The spokesman added that "valuable information was gained as a result of the test. Extensive flight testing of rocket missiles... has been going on for some time. These tests will be continued."

Nevada Club Linked to Famed Gambler

By CLARK BIGLER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) Nevada's gaming board today confirmed that gambling totals found on underworld figure Frank Costello in New York City "appear to correspond to the cumulative totals of the Tropicana hotel as of April 26, 1957."

The gaming board had admitted it was investigating a slip of paper found in Costello's pocket after he was shot and wounded May 2 as he left his New York City apartment.

But, it said three weeks ago that any disclosure at that time would jeopardize the investigation.

The paper found on Costello's person listed gross winnings as of "4-26" as $941,284. This included $153,745 in markers of Lou's and $688,184 from slot machines.

Gov. Charles Russell, chairman of the state tax commission charged with policing Nevada's multi-million-dollar legalized gambling industry, declared "the investigation would continue and if the conclusion of that investigation warrants any action it will be taken forthwith."

According to today's kids, if you don't know what a square is, you're probably an yourself.

New Lease on Life for the Soil Bank

By ELWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—A marathon Senate session and some sharp vote switching gave the administration's soil bank program a new lease on life today and provided hundreds of millions of dollars for payments to farmers.

The Senate unanimously passed last night a $3,068,972,157 farm money bill and sent it back to the House. But the 78-0 passage vote came only after several close tests of strength on specific issues during a 13-hour session.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) called the Senate back into extra-hour duty today with two more annual appropriations bills to work on.

One would provide $5,378,224,800 for 20 miscellaneous government agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1. The other carries $2,885,290,781 for the Labor and Health, Education and Welfare departments for the same period. Neither was expected to arouse much floor controversy.

Over all, the Senate farm bill action was a broad victory for the Eisenhower administration's farm policies, although key issues still are subject to a Senate-House compromise.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) who as floor manager for the bill lost two battles last night, will lead a group of Senate conferees who will ask the House to accept Senate extensions of the soil bank.

The House, when it passed the farm money bill, had voted 192-137 to end the liberal acreage reserve phase of the soil bank—applying to wheat, corn, cotton and other restricted crop land after payments of 600 million dollars on this year's crops.

The Senate reversed this and continued these payments through 1958 crops with 500 millions authorized but not yet provided.

Inmate at Prison Farm Is Killed

STAR CITY, Ark. (UP) — A 34-year-old Communist Prison Farm inmate was beaten and stabbed to death and a 19-year-old convict is being held for his murder, Supt. Lee Henslee said today.

Henslee said the slaying occurred yesterday at the prison farm about 40 miles southeast of Pine Bluff but it was not revealed until today.

The Superintendent said the dead man was Thomas Stone Jolly who was serving an 8-year sentence for burglary and grand larceny. He previously had served time in an Ohio federal penitentiary and the Kentucky state penitentiary, the superintendent said.

Jolly, serving a sentence from Cross County, Ark., for burglary and grand larceny, made a statement admitted that he killed the other convict.

The two men had been sent to a building on the farm for a sack of peanuts. Henslee said Murray returned without Jolly and announced that he had killed the man. A hammer was used as a weapon, the superintendent said, but the body also appeared to have been stabbed with a sharp instrument.

Cancer Claims Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey

NEW YORK (UP) — Bandleader Jimmy Dorsey, 53, died today of cancer.

He was the brother of Tommy Dorsey, also a bandleader, who died last November.

They formed one of the best-known brother combinations in the popular music world. A Jimmy Dorsey recording, "So Rare," is listed second in a rating of current hits.

Jimmy Dorsey died in Doctors Hospital. He had been operated on in January for a lung growth. Two months later he left his band on the road to enter the hospital.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Jimmy Dorsey, like his more-famous brother Tommy, came out of the poverty-stricken hard-coal coal regions of Pennsylvania to head one of the most famous bands in America. The two brothers were noted for the music they made separately and together and won almost as much prominence for the celebrated duos that kept them apart.

Mayflower Is Towed Into Provincetown

By JAMES GEGGIS

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UP) — The Pilgrim replica ship Mayflower II, boating her ghostly predecessor to the new world by 14 days, was towed by a Coast Guard tug into Provincetown Harbor today for her first anchorage in America.

The rugged 92-foot barque entered the squally harbor at 10:23 p.m. (CST) for a re-enactment of the signing of the Mayflower compact later today.

The vessel was expected to sail on 25 miles across Massachusetts bay to Plymouth tomorrow for a recreation of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock.

Scores of yachts sailed out to greet the Mayflower, which bobbed in tow of the Coast Guard Cutter Yankton. Thousands of persons watched from the sandy shore.

The Mayflower, the American flag at her forepeak and the Union Jack at her main, headed directly for a Coast Guard mooring off the town wharf.

The Mayflower II made the 3,500 mile Atlantic crossing in 52 days, compared with 66 days taken by the original Mayflower, even though the latter sailed a different shorter route.

Many boats zigzagged back and forth at Provincetown harbor as the Mayflower made its triumphant entrance.

Brewster to Trial for 'Contempt'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamster Official Frank W. Brewster Seattle went on trial for contempt of Congress today before Federal District Judge John J. Sirica.

The West Coast union boss waived a trial by jury.

He lost a renewed motion to have the indictment dismissed because of prior newspaper publicity. He also was denied a 30-day postponement.

While the government's attorney outlined the case against him, the 60-year-old chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters sat with hands folded at the end of his attorneys' table. A heavy set man with thinning grey hair, he was dressed in a dark blue suit with dark tie.

Brewster is charged with failing to answer 31 questions by the Senate investigating subcommittee last January and with failing to produce documents the committee requested. He contended the group lacked jurisdiction.

Later, Brewster appeared before the special Senate Rackets committee and testified freely.

Prosecutor William Hitz devoted his opening remarks to an attempt to show that the first group was fully authorized of question Brewster. He called attention to provisions of the Taft-Hartley law requiring reports by labor organizations, and said this was sufficient grounds for seeking information from he Teamster official.

Jordan, Egypt May Break Off All Relations

By WALTER LOBAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Diplomatic relations between Jordan and Egypt neared the breaking point today.

Cairo radio savagely attacked Jordan's leaders as traitors who should go to the gallows and blamed them for the loss of Palestine in 1948 when Israel defeated the Arab world.

It was the most bitter attack ever made by Cairo's "Voice of the Arabs" on another Arab state; it emphasized that Syria and Egypt had been left alone in the bloc of "positive neutrality."

Libya also was angry at the Egyptian government. Foreign Minister Wahbe Buri summoned Egyptian government. Foreign Minister Fahg to his office in Tripoli and protested against Egyptian press attacks on Libya's rulers.

An Amman dispatch said Abdel Monem El Rifai, the Jordanian ambassador expelled by Egypt, had returned home and accused the Egyptian government of mistreating Arab nationalism for its own interests.

King Hussein himself was conferring with King Saud of Saudi Arabia on the worsening relations between Jordan and Egypt and it appeared the Arab rift extended to Saudi Arabia and Egypt as well.

Saudi Arabia and Jordan issued a communique in Amman today announcing that travel by Moslem pilgrims to Mecca via the gulf of Arabia was undesirable because of the "current situation" in the gulf.

The communique cited Israel as responsible for the unsatisfactory conditions in the Arab area. Saudi Arabia recently protested to the U. N. Security Council against the presence of Israeli war vessels in what it called "Arab territorial waters."

Israeli dispatches hinted that the United States had urged Israel to tone down its claims to use the Gulf of Arabia and to go slow on sending an Israeli test ship through the Suez Canal.

Jordan was depending more and more on Saudi Arabia for economic help and an Amman dispatch today said a plan was being worked out whereby Saudi Arabia would buy more of Jordan's industrial products and invest more money in the Jordanian economy.

Saudi investments would help make up for Syrian and Egyptian foot dragging in payment of subsidies promised but never received after Britain ended its 35 million dollar a year subsidy to Jordan.

Plan Raft Trip Down Mississippi

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UP) — An open raft journey down the Mississippi River in the manner of Mark Twain's "Huck Finn" and "Nigger Jim" is the goal of a trio of University of Ohio English teachers.

John Veltte, 27, and Loren Davidson, 34, all of Athens, Ohio are working on a raft which they intend to call from Hannibal to northern Arkansas.

They estimated yesterday the trip will take three weeks and will cover more than 800 miles. They also expect to gather material for articles about Mark Twain books.

2nd Boy Dies in Tragic Shooting

By The Associated Press

A tragic family shooting, a state prison murder, a highway accident that left no skid marks and a fall at an industrial project yesterday claimed total of seven lives in Arkansas.

The youngest of three sons of a despondent North Little Rock widow joined his mother and brother in death today while at Fayetteville a second teen-ager died of injuries suffered in an automobile collision.

Mrs. Mary Sharp, twice a widow at 36, was found shot to death and her three sons critically wounded in their home yesterday morning.

Ten-year-old Douglas Sharp died a few hours after the shooting. Charles Sharp, 17, died shortly after 8 a.m. today in a Little Rock hospital where his half-brother, William Patrick O'Brien, 13, continued to cling to a thread of life. Attendants said the oldest boy was "extremely" critical and might not "last out the day."

Police said Mrs. Sharp, who left notes indicating she had been despondent for months, apparently shot each of her sons in the head as they slept and then turned the .25 caliber automatic pistol on herself.

Mrs. Sharp's first husband was killed in World War II; her second died last August.

A 34-year-old convict was stabbed and beaten to death at Cummins Prison Farm and a 19-year-old convict was held for investigation.

Sheriff Hollis Spencer said he found no skid marks on U.S. Highway 62 near Lincoln where two cars collided head on with terrific impact yesterday. He said he was investigating the possibility that the young drivers were playing "chicken," a test to determine which would move out of the other's path first.

The collision killed Bud Owens, 19, of near Lincoln, instantly. Weldon Poole Jr., 17, of Centery, died early today in a Fayetteville hospital.

The condition of four others hurt in the wreck was described as "good."

Arkansas Escapees Recaptured

SPRINGHILL, La. (UP) — Two brothers who escaped from the Arkansas State Hospital while under federal indictment for bank robbery were captured here early today by Springfield police.

William Albert Anderson, 33, and Charles Edwin Anderson, 25, slipped away from a group of patients who were being returned to the hospital after an evening's entertainment July 29.

They are charged with the July, 1955 daylight robbery of a bank at Joiner in east Arkansas.

Police here said that the brothers were riding in a new car which they admitted stealing in Macon, Tex.

Some $10,000 was taken in the Joiner robbery. Police picked up the trial of William Albert Anderson after noon the robbery and captured him in a tree near Caruth, Mo., after a prolonged automobile chase. At the time they said they recovered $3,600 of the bank loot.

Assistant cashier Bill Andrum was left bound and gagged in the bank vault.

Charles Anderson was arrested about a year later in Miami, Fla., on a disturbance and drunkenness charge. Although he was identified by fingerprints, he never admitted his true identity while in jail, insisting that he was "Charles Williams."

When his mother came to visit him in a jail at Jonesboro, Ark., Charles Anderson said that she was a "nice lady" but not his mother.

Both underwent mental tests at a federal institution at Springfield, Mo., and William was declared "with psychosis."

Chinese Admit Shooting Down American Plane

LONDON (UP) — Peiping radio, the propaganda voice of Red China, claimed that Chinese Communist anti-aircraft units damaged one U. S. Navy plane and shot down two Nationalist fighters today in the Swatow coastal area.

The broadcast said the action took place when "the U. S. aircraft carrier Hornet and four destroyers sailed out of Hong Kong soon after 7 o'clock this morning."

"They invaded part of the South China sea within the territorial waters of (Red China)," Peiping claimed.

"A little past noon today, enemy warships sailed to the waters between Hong Kong and Swatow."

"At 1310 hours, at a place 110 degrees three minutes east longitude and 22 degrees north latitude south of Swatow, four U. S. naval planes took off from the aircraft carrier Hornet and intruded into the Swatow area of Kwangtung province."

"They were immediately attacked by our heavy anti-aircraft gunfire. One of the intruders was hit and damaged. It escaped in a southerly direction, belching smoke."

"From 1233 to 2030 hours, American aircraft from the carrier Hornet made 66 sorties in 23 groups. At 1221 hours, four Chiang Kai-shek (Nationalist Chinese) F4 fighters intruded over the Swatow area. They met heavy anti-aircraft gunfire from the ground and two planes were shot down and fell into the sea south of Taha island."

President Ike Seems to Be Chipper, Well

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower, jovial and looking chipper after his illness, was breakfasted today to 40 House Republicans in a new move to get his bogged-down legislative program through Congress.

The White House meeting marked the President's resumption of regular business engagements in the wake of the stomach upset which kept him in bed all day Monday and sharply restricted his office activities yesterday.

Eisenhower's physicians have reported him "almost" recovered from the stomach distress. They've attributed his brief illness to "slight overindulgence in some types of food."

At today's breakfast, the first in a series which will include all Republican members of Congress, Eisenhower relished orange juice, scrambled eggs, toast, and coffee with caffeine.

He passed up two additional items—bacon and sausage. The purpose of the breakfast series is to put Eisenhower in closer touch with GOP Congress members and enable him to do a bit of quiet missionary work on behalf of his program.

There were some immediate indications that the President still faces an uphill task in that respect, even with some members of his own party.

Rep. Brown of Ohio told newsmen after the breakfast that Eisenhower discussed the administration's legislative program briefly with him, particularly a multimillion-dollar measure to provide for school construction.

"I told him," Brown related, "that Ohio is against the school bill. I said that in Ohio if we voted for that bill we would all get hung."

Brown added that the conversation was in a light vein and Eisenhower laughed heartily. Eisenhower said he also told those at the breakfast favored cutting the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. The congressman had nothing to say about any presidential laughter over that.

News From State Capitol

Little Rock, June 11 (Special). To citizens recalling all the talk about financial crises besetting the schools and public welfare, it may come as something of a surprise that on June 1, with $12,021,375 General Revenues to apportion to state agencies, Treasurer J. Vance Clayton could credit only $414,080 to the Public School Fund and $123,503 to the Welfare Fund.

Fact about the matter was that General Revenues, which schools and welfare share with others, didn't need their usual allotments; taxes had increased to such an

Betty Davis to Cast Off 4th Husband

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie star Betty Davis has sued her fourth husband, actor Gary Merrill, for separate maintenance.

Her complaint charges that since their marriage July 28, 1950, in June, Merrill has treated her with "extreme cruelty" and has "wrongfully inflicted" and "grossly mistreated" her.

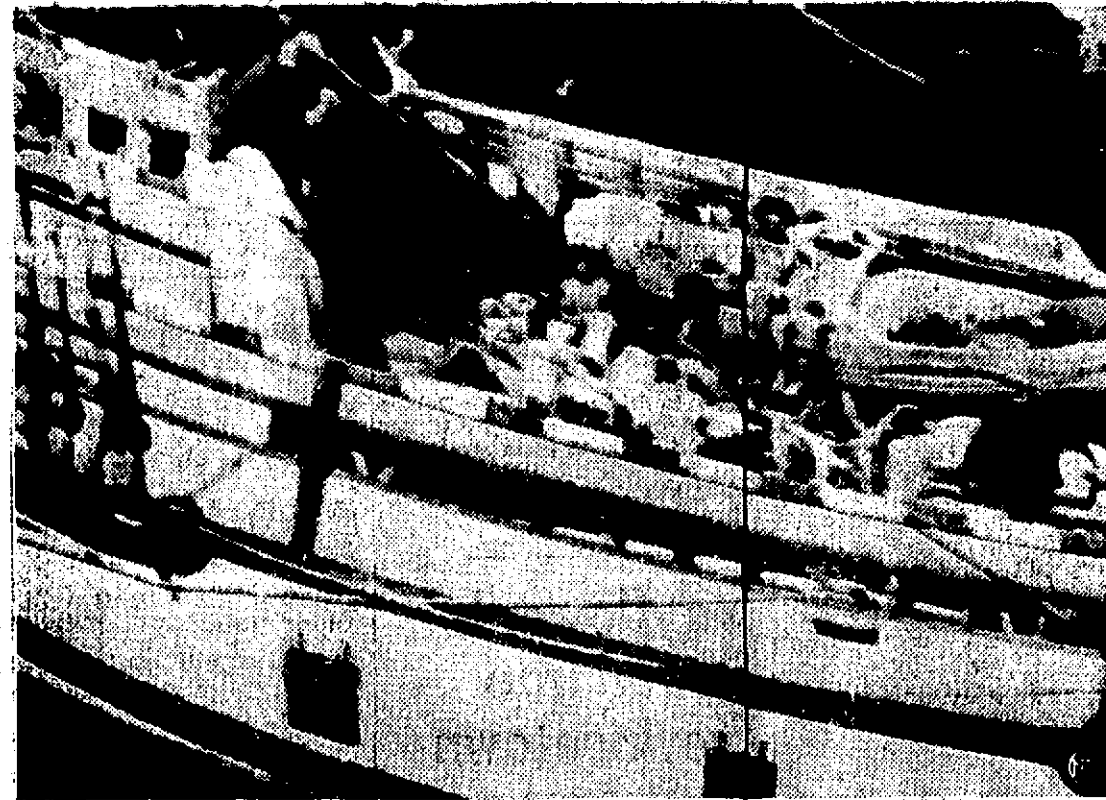

The actress' suit was filed last Friday in the suburban Santa Monica Superior Court with the plaintiff's name as Mrs. Ruth Elizabeth Merrill. It came to attention upon reaching court headquarters in downtown Los Angeles yesterday.

Miss Davis asks custody of her daughter Barbara, 9, by her last previous marriage to William Grant Sherry of Laguna Beach, Calif., a longtime pugilist turned artist.

She also requests custody of two other children, Margaret, 6, adopted in January 1951, and Michael, 5, adopted in February 1952. Barbara was legally adopted by Merrill, Miss Davis' complaint states.

The suit asks support for Miss Davis and the three children. The amount sought is not specified.

Merrill met Miss Davis as her leading man in "All About Eve."

THE STORY: Dr. Garde Shelton has replaced Dr. Kurt Lillard on the staff of the Bayard, Mo., clinic Garde feels that he is being compared with Kurt as a "substitute." Kurt was convicted of murder on circumstantial evidence and many believe him innocent.

CHAPTER IX

The next evening when they were out in the garden together, Garde's head went up sharply at the sound of a ringing bell. "It's Stanfield's," said his mother. "I know the sound. Their bell rings all the time. Telegraph boy comes a half-dozen times a day."

"Valley writes a newspaper column," Garde said. "I've repaid their call, and I've taken them things. A pie, and only today, half of my angel food."

"It was very good," Garde said. "Of course it was good. But that cook of theirs said I needn't mind. She took care of her folks."

Garde laughed. "Well, then, I don't believe I'd go any more. They seem friendly, but they have a right to their privacy, too."

He never knew if his advice was taken. Perhaps his mother did stop taking food across the garden to Stanfield's, but she must have kept watching the house for he came home on day to get his customary "clean shirt" at noon and found his mother puffing with indignation.

"Did you see what Valley Stanfield is doing?" she demanded. "Or did you come in the back way?"

"I came in the back," Garde said. "Well, you go to the front and look. She's planting a spite fence!"

Garde tilted his chin and was very careful with the knot of his dark tie.

His mother came farther into his room. "Garde, are you listening to me?"

He turned. "I don't believe I am in a position to discuss it, Mother. I don't know what Valley is doing."

"I told you," she said. "You're the one who has decided it is a spite fence. Aren't you?"

"Oh, for heaven's sake, Garde, what else could it be? She's setting out a row of tall cedars—or some kind of evergreen things—been working at it all morning. Had a boy digging the holes, but he went off, and she's putting in those trees and filling them up—the holes—and they are close enough together to hide their

British Probe Mystery of Frogman

CHESTER, England, (UP) — British police enshrouded the case of the neagress frogman in wartime secrecy today on direct orders from the government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

There were hints the U. S. Navy might be involved.

A day and night guard was mounted at the mortuary where the body lay and a coroner's inquest was expected to adjourn immediately without a statement.

The body was generally believed to be that of former Navy Frogman Lionel (Buster) Crabb, a naval hero who disappeared beneath the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze during last year's Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin visit.

Mrs. Margaret Crabb, 43-year-old ex-wife of the royal Navy commander, was summoned to Chickester for the inquest and a possible identification of the body which has lain beneath the waters for 14 months. She said Crabb had two deformed toes.

But any official findings remained secret and the British press fell back on the speculation which has marked the cold war mystery from the beginning. One, the Daily Express, said Crabb had died while carrying out a hazardous assignment for the U. S. Navy.

Crabb's death was never officially confirmed. The admiral admitted he disappeared while diving near the Soviet Cruiser — reported to be of secret new design below the waterline—and said he was "presumed" to be dead.

Today Daily Express Correspondent Chapman Pincher reported from Washington that Crabb had approached U. S. Navy headquarters in London, offering to examine the hull of the Ordzhonikidze on the Navy's behalf. He said the Navy agreed and that Britain gave tacit assent.

Doctors studied the body yesterday and during the night to see whether the frogman had died by accident or violence. There had been speculation he was killed by Soviet frogmen who caught him swimming beneath their ship.

But the doctors' findings were not ascertained. Aside from the fact, an autopsy was performed there was little to go on. Dr. Donald King, consultant pathologist to a Chichester hospitals group, told newsmen his autopsy had not determined the cause of death.

Police pathologists worked on through the night.

"As far as I can see he could have died of anything," King said. "The body had been in the water at least six months and is wearing a frogman's suit nipped in at the waist with elastic. The frogman was about five feet six inches in height."

TV Actress Named in 'Love' Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Television moderator Martha Rountree has been accused of alienating the affections of her husband Oliver Presbrey from his first wife.

In papers on file in State Supreme Court yesterday, Mrs. Natalie M. Presbrey seeks to declare Miss Rountree's marriage to Presbrey invalid and to restore herself as Presbrey's legal wife.

The first Mrs. Presbrey charged that Miss Rountree "alienated the affections of my husband" and "induced him to leave me and our children and our home."

Presbrey is co-conductor with Miss Rountree of ABC-TV's Press Conference. She is moderator of the show.

"I know you will just as the mothers ignore my advice about their children," she looked alert. "Then what happens?"

"To both of you. Oh, your trees will die, and I'll earn a fat living caring for the results of the mothers' mistakes."

She laughed. "Are you any good as a prophet?"

They laughed together; he lifted his hand in salute, put on his hat and strode down the street. Valley looked at her spouse and watched him.

Ships of 18 Nations in Big Review

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) The warships of 18 friendly nations rode easily at anchor today, awaiting review by their top military officials but alert to the unexpected - an emergency dispersal.

Possible withdrawal of the greatest armada in recent peacetime history even figured in the operational plans of the Navy in this concentration of 11 ships of 17 foreign nations and the United States.

"Of course a dispersal plan is in effect," said Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet and official host of the review. "But the concentration in the area is within the allowable tolerances as far as ships of the United States are concerned."

This reference in an interview was to Wright's plan for allowing no more than an accepted maximum of capital ships in a given restricted area at one time.

"Each foreign ship has been assigned to a dispersal anchorage," the admiral said. "A United States would to with each guest ship to the assigned anchorage, either in Chesapeake Bay or cruising seaward."

Wright called the host ship-guest ship the "buddy" system.

The 11 ships, 78 of them American-made, smartly at anchor in full dress flags and bunting, awaiting the steamship of the three reviewing ships, the guided missile cruisers Canberra and Boston and the tactical command ship Northampton.

DOROTHY DIX

Stop Husband-Swapping — Stick to What You Have

Dear Dorothy Dix: I divorced my children's father because he wouldn't make us a decent living. Eventually he talked me into going back to him, but wouldn't re-marry me. Once married, always married, he said. I didn't like the arrangement, so left again.

Soon after I re-married, and so did my ex-husband. My present husband is a fine man, good provider and a better father to the children than their own dad. My first now wants me back. What shall I do?

Dear Ottilie: You lost me in the round, and I'm a little vague about who is really married to whom. However, it undoubtedly would be best for you to stay with your present husband who you say is a fine man, good provider and stepfather.

You couldn't get along with your first husband the two times you tried it. What makes you think a third time around would be any better?

Dear Dorothy Dix: My problem is finding the right girl to be my wife. I'm 28, have a good education, fine job, am fairly nice looking, have no dependants, never been married, own a nice home, well furnished, don't smoke or drink and have no debts. When I meet a girl I think will do, she always has some fault that disqualifies her.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a middle-aged couple and plan to marry this summer. My fiancée likes to play cards in fact, she belongs to a bridge club that meets daily. I object but she tells me she'll give it up after we're married.

Dear Curtis: Don't object too strenuously. This club has filled a gap in the lady's life for a long time. When she has a home and husband to take up the slack, she won't be available for so many bridge sessions. But don't force her to give up old friends.

Tommy kept insisting they form their own band, and Jimmy finally gave in. The Dorsey brothers orchestra was a smashing success, employing such stars as Glenn Miller, Charlie Spivak, Ray McKinley and Bob Crosby. It broke apart in 1935 in a flareup over tempo. Tommy walked out and started his own struggling band. Jimmy went to Hollywood to conduct for Bing Crosby.

Both were famous jazz musicians.

E. Wilson was in the Canberra as chief reviewing officer and representative of President Eisenhower. With Wilson in the main reviewing ship area Adm. Wright and Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In the Boston was Secretary of Navy Thomas S. Gates. In the Northampton were Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, and Adm. Felix R. Stump, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet. Also embarked in the Canberra where ambassadors of the 17 nations represented in the review.

Allegations by Meany Brushed Aside

WASHINGTON (AP) Three companies have brushed aside allegations by CIO President George Meany that the firms' welfare plans to provide examples of "corruption and malfeasance."

One of the three General Electric — look a return which Al Meany, saying he "has made himself ridiculous in his unwarranted charges as a result, presumably, of his being misled" by James B. Connel, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, which has contracts with GE.

"We hope," GE said in a statement, "this is not just a carefully timed attempt to discredit reputable companies in order to divert the spotlight from the current unfavorable disclosures on activities of some union officials before other Senate committees."

Meany made his charges yesterday in testimony before a Senate Labor subcommittee. He asked that proposed legislation requiring disclosure on welfare funds be applied to management-operated funds as well as those administered by unions.

The labor leader then listed four cases which he said demonstrated "corruption and malfeasance" in management.

In addition to General Electric, Meany listed Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., which serves many Boston area communities; the Reed Glass Co. Inc., Rochester, N. Y., now in bankruptcy; and an unnamed "West Coast firm."

Here are the charges and the replies: General Electric — Meany said GE awarded its health insurance contract to Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. without competitive bidding, and that two GE directors also are directors of Metropolitan.

GE issued a statement in New York saying, "Mr. Meany should have taken the precaution to learn that the amount paid by the employees is fixed by the negotiated union agreement and that General Electric pays the entire balance, however high it may run."

The company added it has handled its insurance through Metropolitan since 1920 and regards the present contract as "the best available value." Neither of the two directors, GE continued, "is in any position to profit in the slightest from the business Metropolitan does with General Electric."

See It Now Closes With Fine Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—See It Now (CBS-TV) concluded its television season with one of its best programs, "Automation, Weal or Woe?"

Automation, the evolutionary industrial process of one machine thinking for others, may at first glance strike some workers as a foe. But for clear, fascinating reporting of a vital contemporary development, the Sunday program produced by Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly prove to and Mrs. Harold Lusby and Carol Jones of Little Rock spent Friday here and were accompanied home by Mrs. Fannie Newth who is their guest.

Miss Carolyn Sue Andrews left Thursday for Girls Scout Camp near Mena where she is a counselor.

Mrs. Scott Smith and Scott Jr. returned to their home in Little Rock Thursday after a visit with Mrs. Robbie Wilson and Mrs. John W. Davis, who accompanied them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reynolds and Julia Ann of Hope were Friday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hiett.

be a weal to television viewers. The program gave absorbing camera accounts of how automation is working in a host of industries: airplane and automotive plants, as an air warning system on the northeastern approaches to the continent, in a bakery, in steel mills, in the dial telephone.

Some of its potentials also were examined, in fields as diverse as how the method can detect cancer of the cervix and how it can prepare and cook meals for the housewife.

In its conclusions the program emphasized the economic and social implications of automation. What, for example, would the 30-hour week mean in a society which always has been basically motivated by work?

John Diabild, an industrial consultant and automation expert, put it this way: "In a 30-hour week we face the problem of what to do with our leisure time. We have to reconsider the concept of work being the whole center of our lives. We must consider developing a society that makes leisure the basis of culture."

Thomas J. Watson Jr., of International Business Machines, predicted that under automation "the human will be upgraded, not downgraded. These machines are only tools. The most important thing about a machine is that it cannot create."

None of the experts on automation visualize it resulting in unemployment in the long run. As a concrete example: Workers feared that the dial phone would result in unemployment. If it had not been for the dial, however, nearly every woman in the coun-

Explains Why Some Actors Stay Around

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why do the flashy young film actors come and go while the Cary Grants go on forever?

Gary Grant himself offers some help on this question. It came up when I asked him what he thought of the new "dirty-shirt" school of acting.

"It's the same thing I did when I was a young actor," Grant replied. "I did it and got it out of my system. These young fellows will do the same — if they're smart."

"That has happened to Marlon Brando already. He went through the itching and scratching stage in 'A Streetcar Named Desire'." I know, because I was close to it.

"But then he came to 'Guys and Dolls' and he realized that he couldn't get to hold an audience by remaining still. He found out he could do it, and this was a great realization to him."

"Actually, it isn't natural acting. It would have to be a phone operator to handle today's traffic. It was emphasized that the industrial revolution has always increased employment."

In the generally barren summer television season it would be pleasant if CBS would repeat a couple of this year's See It Now programs.

at all. It's a result of an inferiority complex. The actor wants to hide his real self, so he rubs his nose and scratches his backside anything to distract the audience from seeing him as he is.

"The real stars in films — the ones who last a long time — are the ones who do an absolute minimum on the screen. They don't scratch and rub to prevent you from seeing what they are; they expose their real selves. Their own personalities are strong enough to command attention even though they do nothing on the screen."

Some take years to develop the faculty, he remarked. Examples: Bing Crosby, Gary Cooper and especially Spencer Tracy. Others learn it early like his co-stars Grace Kelly and Sophia Loren. He also said his new leading lady in "Kiss Them For Me," Suzy Parker, may acquire the knack fast.

"She has great economy of movement," Grant observed. "I guess that comes from her model training."

MANILA (AP)—An influenza epidemic, sweeping the Philippines since May, has killed 864 persons, a government official reported today.

Acting Health Secretary Rafael Tumbokon said most of the deaths have been children and aged men and women.

RIGHT IN THE REVEREND'S KISSER—Anything for sweet charity, says Rev. H. A. Wilke, as he lends a new face to an old sport. The Rev. Mr. Wilke, rector of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church in Houston, Texas, was the unanimous choice of the church bazaar committee seeking a face that would inspire the good parishioners to spend lots of quarters for lots of sponges. Yes, the sponge was wet—sopping wet with soapy water. And the aim—excellent.

See It Now Closes With Fine Program

By CHARLES MERGER

NEW YORK (U. S. —) See It Now (CBS-TV) concluded its television season with one of its best programs, "Automation, Weal or Woe?"

Automation, the evolutionary industrial process of one machine thinking for others, may at first glance strike some workers as a woe. But for clear, fascinating reporting of a vital contemporary development, the Sunday program produced by Edward R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly prove to be a weal to television viewers. The program gave absorbing camera accounts of how automation is working in a host of industries: airplane and automotive plants, as an air warning system on the northeastern approaches to the continent, in a bakery, in steel mills, in the dial telephone.

Some of its potentials also were examined, in fields as diverse as how the method can detect cancer of the cervix and how it can prepare and cook meals for the housewife.

In its conclusions the program emphasized the economic and social implications of automation. What, for example, would the 30-hour week mean in a society which always has been basically motivated by work?

John Diebold, an industrial consultant and automation expert, put it this way: "In a 30-hour week we face the problem of what to do with our leisure time. We have to reconsider the concept of work being the whole center of our lives. We must consider developing a society that makes leisure the basis of culture."

Thomas J. Watson Jr., of International Business Machines, predicted that under automation "the human will be upgraded, not downgraded. These machines are only tools. The most important thing about a machine is that it cannot create."

None of the experts on automation visualize it resulting in unemployment in the long run. As a concrete example: Workers feared that the dial phone would result in unemployment. If it had not been for the dial, however, nearly every woman in the coun-

Explains Why Some Actors Stay Around

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U. S. —) Why do the flashy young film actors come and go while the Cary Grants go on forever?

Gary Grant himself offers some help on this question. It came up when I asked him what he thought of the new "dirty-shirt" school of acting.

"It's the same thing I did when I was a young actor," Grant replied. "I did it and got it out of my system. These young fellows will do the same — if they're smart."

"That has happened to Marlon Brando already. He went through the itching and scratching stage I know, because I was close to it."

"But then he came to 'Guys and Dolls' and he realized that he couldn't get to hold an audience by remaining still. He found out he could do it, and this was a great realization to him."

"Actually, it isn't natural acting. It would have to be a phone operator to handle today's traffic. It was emphasized that the industrial revolution has always increased employment."

In the generally barren summer television season it would be pleasant if CBS would repeat a couple of this year's See It Now programs.

MANILA (U. S. —) An influenza epidemic, sweeping the Philippines since May, has killed 884 persons, a government official reported today.

Acting Health Secretary Rafael Tumbokon said most of the deaths have been children and aged men and women.

Cards Capture 7th, Nat'l Loop in 5-Team Race
By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals' longest winning streak in five years today turned the National League race into a five-team donnybrook that threatens to make last year's three-team affair look like a tea party.
The Cardinals, who hadn't won seven straight games since August, 1952, reached that total last night when they celebrated Stan Musial's record-tying 822nd consecutive game with a 5-2 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies. That victory combined with Pittsburgh's 8-1 win over Cincinnati and Milwaukee's 7-2 triumph over Brooklyn means there are a scant 33 percentage points separating the first and fifth-place teams in the N.L.
At the same time, the world champion New York Yankees quieted talk of an impending American League runaway with a 2-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox that cut the losers' first-place margin to four games. The season's largest crowd, 49,114 saw the Yankees hand the White Sox their third straight defeat and their fourth in five games.
Ruben Gomez pitched the New York Giants to a 5-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the other N.L. game while the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers, 4-1, in other A.L. games. Washington at Kansas City was rained out.
Murry Dickson, a 15-game winner when the Cardinals last won a pennant in 1948, turned in a seven-hitter for his third victory behind a 15-hit St. Louis attack that included four hits by Al Enright, contributed only a single to the Redbird offense. The Pirates were victimized by the first triple play of the N.L. season in the third inning but got five-hit pitching from Bob Purkey to win their third straight game over a contender.
Bobby Thomson, most famous Dodger killer of 'emall, hit a grand slam homer and Joe Adcock also homered as the Braves connected for 11 hits to ease Ray Cagney's path to his third win.
Gomez became the N.L.'s first eight-game winner of the season aided by a key two-run triple by Willie Mays when the giants snapped a four-game losing streak. Lon Kaiser suffered the loss for the Cubs.
Bobby Shantz, the 139-pounder who's carrying the mighty Yankees on his shoulders, won his sixth straight game and seventh of the year in the opener of the big three-game series with the White Sox. Mickey Mantle cracked his 18th homer to get the Yankees off in front in the first inning and scored the winning run after doubling in the fifth.
Chicago's Carrasquel's two-run homer enabled the Indians to come from behind and tag relief ace Ike Delock with his sixth defeat. Roger Maris, Bob Avila and Jim Hegan also homered for the Indians and Ted Williams hit No. 14 for the Red Sox.
Jim Pyburn's two-run homer his first round-tripper of the year sparked the surprising Orioles to their third straight win and ninth in 12 games. Connie Johnson scattered eight Detroit hits to chalk up his fifth triumph of the season.

Fishing Trip Proves to Be Successful

Musial 2nd Only to the Great Gehrig
By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The ever modest Stan Musial called it "luck" last night when he tied the National League mark for consecutive games played, but a look at the record stamps him as second only to the late Lou Gehrig as the most durable player in the history of the game.
Gehrig played in 2,130 consecutive games for the New York Yankees. Musial has been in the lineup of the St. Louis Cardinals in 2,192 of the club's 2,229 games since he joined the team some 14 years ago.
"You have to be lucky to do something like this," said Musial last night after he played in his 822nd consecutive game to tie the record set by former Pittsburgh first baseman Gus Suhr from Sept. 11, 1931, to June 4, 1937.
"I've been fortunate not to have any serious injuries that would sideline me. I go out there and play every game and the fact they have all come in succession as they have secondary to me."
The last time Musial missed a game because he was unfit to play was in early May 1951, when the team was stricken with a flu epidemic. He was out for one game. Prior to that the only serious injury suffered by the great outfielder - first baseman came in 1944. He collided with Deb Garna in the outfield and hurt his left knee. He reinjured the knee in 1950 diving for a ball and it has troubled him from time to time.
Statistically, Musial is now tied for fifth among the 13 players who participated in 500 or more consecutive games. Tonight he should break the deadlock with Suhr and move into fourth behind Washington's Eddie Yost, who played in 829 straight games. The top three are Gehrig, Everett Scott (1,907) and Joe Sewell (1,103).
